Fujian Chuanzheng Communications College evolved from the Chuanzheng Academy—China's first state-run modern higher vocational and technical institution founded in 1866. With a history of 160 years, it is the cradle of modern vocational education in China.

Approved by the Ministry of Education, Fujian Chuanzheng Communications College is a public provincial higher vocational college. It is one of China's first 28 National Demonstrative Higher Vocational Colleges, a National High-quality Higher Vocational College, and one of the institutions selected for the national "Double High-Level" Plan in both Phase I and Phase II. FJCCC has received numerous honors and awards including the 5th and 9th "Huang Yanpei Vocational Education Excellence Award," Nomination Award of the 3rd China Quality Award.

Led by two national "Double High-Level" specialty groups, namely Navigation Technology and Road and Bridge Engineering Technology, the college has developed nine distinctive modern transportation major clusters covering marine, land, air and rail disciplines, comprising various majors such as Safety Technology and Management, New Energy Vehicle Technology, Low-Altitude Economy and Transportation Services,

Rail Transit, Machinery and Intelligent Manufacturing, Economics and Management, as well as Information Technology and Smart Transportation. The college has formed a marine-land-air-rail integrated development system for transportation specialties and a school-running philosophy of laying equal stress on education and vocational skill training.

The college actively engages in international industrial cooperation. It has established six provincial-level Maritime Silk Road Colleges in collaboration with AVIC International, Xiamen King Long, China Railway Signal & Communication, GREE Electric Appliances and other multinational corporations. It has become a member of the World Technical and Vocational Education and Training League, a Council Member of the Luban Workshop Development League, and a Chinese member institution of the China-Africa Vocational Education Cooperation Federation. We cultivate highly skilled global professionals qualified for jobs in Saudi Arabia, Spain, Italy, Singapore, Cameroon and Hong Kong, China.

International Cooperation

The college innovates the international cooperation model for vocational education, adheres to the "Going Global" and "Bringing In" strategy, serves the national "Belt and Road" Initiative, practices the principle of "education following industrial output and colleges advancing hand in hand with enterprises", and strives to build the Chuanzheng brand for "vocational education going global". It has strengthened cooperation with enterprises such as AVIC International, Xiamen King Long, and Gree, establishing "Maritime Silk Road Colleges" to support these enterprises in their overseas expansion. In Kenya, the college has set up the "East Africa Vocational Education Joint Training Base"; it has also planned and assisted in building Uganda's first national vocational training school for the Ugandan Ministry of Science and Technology. Besides, it has provided training for presidents and core teachers of vocational colleges in African countries, which has won recognition from the Ministry of Labour. The college has exported the "Chuanzheng Standards" and "Chuanzheng Model" to empower the modernization of vocational education in African nations. In addition, in collaboration with the Panama Maritime Authority, it has established the "Panama Maritime Training Center" to train international seafarers. The college is the Vice-Chairman Unit of the Luban Workshop Construction Alliance, a founding member of the World Federation of Technical and Vocational Education and Training, and one of the first Chinese colleges to be included in the expanded membership of the "China-Africa Vocational Education Federation". Through the development of exchange and cooperation initiatives such as "deepening engagement with Africa, collaborating with Asia, and communicating with Europe and America", the college has formed a distinctive Chuanzheng brand for vocational education "going global", and the internationalization level of its vocational education has been significantly enhanced.
